AXIS ASSAULT IN EGYPT IS JOLTED BACK

Meandering Along the Main Stem

Inquiry at the office of The Fayette County Automobile Club has revealed that most Fayette County motorists have fallen in with the national trend in ceasing to plan long auto trips this summer and fall.

It is said that automobile excursion planning, over any great distance, has dropped off nearly two-thirds around here. Michigan and the "Great Smokies" of Tennessee are about the farthest points to which any tourists of this county have gone or planned to go according to Fern Chaffin whose efficient and friendly aid in the auto club office has helped hundreds plan extensive motor car trips in other years.

Trips to nearby resorts, lakes and picnic grounds are about as long motor car week ends as most people are planning right now, when delightful fall driving conditions formerly caused many car owners to take long trips to points distant.

Tire conservation and better care of cars also are decidedly in evidence in Fayette County, it is said.

How would you like to drive through Court Street and bump into some tree stumps?

Some of the older residents of the city remember when stumps that had been covered up when the street was graded were removed when the first brick paving was done in the city . . . back before the end of the last century.

As a matter of fact many trees stood in the streets in the up-town district for years after the village was laid out . . . they afforded natural shade for business houses and the streets alike . . . some of them were removed . . . others were cut off near the surface and covered over when the street was graded.

Originally Washington C. H. was literally carved out of the forest of huge trees that covered the entire area . . . trees such as those on the "old fairgrounds" and a few other places in the city give an indication of the nature of the forest growing over what is now the site of Washington C. H.

Many residents of Fayette County and particularly the Bloomingburg community, will recall Louie O'Brian, a good natured, hard working Irishman who formerly distributed kerosene or "ile" from a rickety one-horse wagon, as a means of making a scant living.

Louie at times wrapped his feet in burlap sack and paper to help keep his feet warm in very cold weather . . . but hot or cold, rain or shine, he was always making his rounds with the old tank of "coal oil" to furnish fuel for lamps.

One of my friends recalls that Louie once filed a damage action against a man in the Madison Mills community, for slander, and after several days' trial in the Common Pleas Court the jury awarded Louie a verdict of two cents.

Louie's attorney, Frank Chaffin, expected his client to be very much chagrined over the verdict, but on the contrary, Louie was greatly elated, and shaking Frank by the hand said: "We won it! We won it! We won it!"

Gun Battle Marks Renewal of Violence in Belfast

BELFAST, Northern Ireland, Sept. 4.—(P)—The explosion of a time bomb outside a police barracks at Randalstown, Northern Ireland, and a sharp gun battle between police and Irish Republican guerrillas at the Northern Ireland-Eire border heightened tension today in this Ulster capital.

No casualties were reported from the gun battle and the attackers escaped. Authorities expressed belief that the guerrillas fled back into Eire after firing on police barracks at Belleh, County Fermanagh. Telephone lines in the vicinity had been cut prior to the attack.

The ouster of ardent pro-Nazi Ramon Serrano Suner from the Spanish Foreign Ministry by his brother-in-law, Generalissimo Franco was accepted in the United Nations today as a slight lifting of the clouds in that corner of the Mediterranean.

On the other hand, Axis sources showed restraint and suggested that General Franco is being asked to explain.

FUEL FOR GIBRALTAR
LONDON, Sept. 4.—(P)—The Vichy radio reported today that a large number of merchant ships bearing huge fuel cargoes had arrived last night at Gibraltar.

The broadcaster said the British now had an "impressive force" assembled at that stronghold.

statement concerning the changes was being made by the German Foreign Office today and that no effort would be made to "anticipate an eventual declaration on the subject by General Franco."

It said, however, that personal sketches of the new members of the cabinet were distributed "showing the sympathetic attitude adopted here towards the latter."

These sketches recalled that Count Francisco Gomez Jordana, the new foreign minister, was in that post when Spain adhered to the anti-Comintern Pact, and that Manuel Mora Figueroa, new vice-president of the Falangist party, served for some time in the Spanish Blue Division with German troops on the eastern front.

Bern dispatches said German newspapers generally portrayed surprise at the shift, particularly because Serrano Suner had just recently returned from important conversations in Rome and Vatican City.

Scandinavian newspapers attributed his dismissal to Franco's determination to keep Spain neutral.

A British Foreign Office commentator cautioned that the shakeup should not be scored as a clear victory for Allied diplomacy but said it undoubtedly weakened the Axis slightly.

Allied Air Assault Spreads Havoc and Death Among Invaders in China

(By the Associated Press)
American and Allied warplanes, swarming across the Far Pacific skies on a 3,500-mile "front," were officially credited today with inflicting havoc on Japan's invasion armies from China to the Solomon Islands in the South Seas.

In China, a bulletin from Lieut. Gen. Joseph W. Stilwell's headquarters announced that U. S. army fliers scored direct bomb hits on Japanese headquarters 25 big troopladen junks and at Nanchang, blasted a fleet of probably sank seven Japanese steamers.

"Heavy casualties were inflicted on the Japanese and a number of boats were burned," Gen. Stilwell reported.

"Another flight strafed a Japanese troop train of 12 cars going north on the Kiukiang-Nanchang Railway. The train was loaded with army trucks, artillery and horses. The locomotive was destroyed and heavy damage caused to material."

"In the afternoon, American fighters bombed Nanchang. In a congested Japanese area northwest of the town, many hits were scored, with direct hits on a headquarters and large warehouses."

These were merely the highlights of a devastating U. S. aerial offensive carried out with the loss of only a single American plane.

Moreover, U. S. Air Force "Sky Dragons" as admiring Chinese described them, were reported to have shot down five Japanese planes yesterday in a battle over Kweilin, in Chekiang Province.

U-S-JAP STUDENTS TO GET EDUCATION

Colleges To Take Them . . . But They'll Be Watched

WASHINGTON, Sept. 4.—(P)—American-born Japanese students evacuated from the west coast when the war began are getting a chance to continue their studies.

Officials of the War Relocation Board said today that scores of colleges and universities in the midwest and east had agreed to accept some of the 1,900 evacuees.

The students, who will be sent to institutions selected by the War and Navy Departments, represent a small portion of the 10,000 Japanese removed from the west coast after Japan attacked Pearl Harbor.

Only American-born students who were attending or were about to enroll in colleges when war came are eligible. Even these will be subject to modified surveillance by the Federal Bureau of Investigation, officials said.

GEO. WHITE LOSES CHANCE TO RUN FOR CONGRESS AGAIN

Former Ohio Governor Is Squeezed Out by Committee

McCONNELLSVILLE, Sept. 4.—(P)—Charles W. Lynch, 38-year-old Woodsfield lawyer, today triumphed over former governor George White of Marietta and Thurman Hazard, Cambridge bank cashier and political newcomer, in a tight contest for the Democratic congressional nomination in Ohio's 15th district.

After seven tense hours, the party's 12-member district committee about 2 A. M. agreed—unanimously, they said—on the 32nd ballot on Lynch as a candidate.

Committeemen reported that former governor White, who once represented the district in Congress, was eliminated on the 28th ballot. Although White was not present, supporters said he was in Marietta "ready to come here if nominated."

Thus Lynch succeeds to the nomination declined by former representative Robert T. Secrest, who was unopposed in the August primary. Secrest, before the primary, resigned from Congress to become a lieutenant commander of the navy.

NO MORE HOSTESSES FOR OHIO TAVERNS

Liquor Board Clamps Down
On Sales-boosters

COLUMBUS, Sept. 4.—(P)—The State Liquor Board today put drinking on a strictly voluntary basis in Ohio.

The board, cracking down on establishments employing hostesses to help increase liquor and beer sales, issued a two-pronged order yesterday prohibiting solicitation of drinks in Ohio taverns.

The order bans permit holders and their employees from urging customers to buy drinks for themselves, tavern employees or anyone else and requires the licensee to forbid drink soliciting by any other person on the premises.

Board Chairman Harry E. Hawley said the board took the action after receiving reports of "shady" practices, including instances in which a patron who bought drinks for himself and a hostess later discovered that the hostess had been served tea instead of whiskey for which he was charged.

The permit of one Columbus establishment which employed seven hostesses was revoked, he asserted.

CURFEW FOR GIRLS

Meat Wholesalers To Be Licensed As Price Protection for Consumers

WASHINGTON, Sept. 4.—(P)—In a move designed "to prevent the evasion of existing and forthcoming price regulations," the Office of Price Administration shortly will place the entire meat industry, except for retailers, under unified licensing control.

Announcement of the licensing program last night followed the beginning of court action against approximately 115 meat packers and wholesalers to compel compliance with price regulations.

Alleging "up-grading" or "plain and simple overcharging," OPA began filing injunction suits in 18 cities throughout the country, and said additional actions would be filed in other cities as the investigation continued.

Effective September 8, OPA will automatically license all packers, wholesalers and custom slaughterers, and make the license a required condition for selling any meat product subject to price regulation. Dressed hogs, beef, veal and lamb carcasses, and almost all wholesale and retail cuts except mutton, now are subject to such regulation.

The order provides for suspension of licenses in the event of violation of regulations.

Retailers were excluded from the order because they already are licensed under the general maximum price regulation. OPA said it had received complaints from all parts of the country that price regulations were being ignored by packers and wholesalers and that inferior cuts were being sold at prices exceeding established ceilings.

"Up-grading," OPA explained, consists of stamping and selling meat of inferior grades at

More Women Needed In U. S. War Production

WASHINGTON, Sept. 4.—(P)—Manpower Chairman Paul V. McNutt said today that one of every six women over 18 years old not now in the labor force would be needed in the war effort, and he established a 12-member women's policy committee in the War Manpower Commission.

"One out of every four housewives, perhaps one out of every three, between the ages of 18 and 44 will be employed," he said.

Miss Margaret A. Hickey, owner and director of a school for secretaries at St. Louis, was named chairman of the women's policy committee, which will aid in mobilizing the women workers.

McNutt explained the committee would consider questions of important policy concerning the manpower commission program for training as well as recruiting women workers, and would work closely with the commission's management-labor policy committee.

COLUMBUS, Sept. 4.—(P)—Gov. John W. Bricker today commended 11-year-old Jo Anne Dennis of Canton for offering her hair to the government for the manufacture of precision instruments needed in war production.

Jo Anne's offer was made to the State Defense Council, and her letter said:

"I have never used anything on my hair or had a permanent." A lock of hair was enclosed.

This gesture, the governor commented, is typical of the American spirit in our youth today.

19 MORE CZECHS KILLED FOR 'TREASON' BY NAZIS

LONDON, Sept. 4.—(P)—The execution of 19 Czechs at Prague, two of them women, was reported today by Czech government circles in London.

High treason was the charge against eight, including Mrs. Irene Bernaskova, 38, a journalist. All were said to have been described in a German announcement as high in a secret organization working against the Reich.

HITLER'S GETTING SCARED OF ALLIED AIR POWER

Her father, J. C. Berquist, is serving with an infantry company and her husband is in the air force. At home are two small sons—very proud of the family.

Dies Committee-FBI Tension Is Aggravated

WASHINGTON, Sept. 4.—(P)—The FBI and the Dies Committee were at sharp odds today over the extent of subversiveness among federal employees.

Chairman Dies (D., Tex.) accusing Attorney General Francis Biddle of having "failed utterly" to comply with congressional wishes, asked the House to reject a Justice Department report which criticized the committee indirectly for sending the FBI on a time-consuming search for disloyal government workers.

Dies, head of the special committee set up four years ago to investigate subversive activities, made his request in a letter to

Speaker Sam Rayburn in which he referred to a recent act of Congress asking the FBI to make the check up.

The Justice Department, the Texan charged, did not want the assignment in the first place and "it is not strange that nothing but an attempt to smear our committee has resulted."

Biddle's report said that as a result of 2,095 investigations, including many suggested by the Dies committee, only 36 government workers had been fired and 13 others disciplined. The result, he added, was "utterly disproportionate to the resources expended."

RUSSIA IN GRAVE DANGER

(By The Associated Press)
Field Marshal Erwin Rommel's armored columns, jolted by terrific Allied fire-power, were reported to have fallen back in the battle of Egypt today under another record-breaking assault by British and American warplanes.

A British communique said the main Axis forces had retreated slightly westward.

On the Russian front, Nazi headquarters asserted that German troops had fought their way to the western suburbs of Stalingrad, and Tass, the official Soviet news agency, acknowledged that fighting was in progress on "the immediate approaches" to the big Volga steel city.

Dispatches to Red Star said battles "without precedent in violence" were raging on the northern and southern approaches to the city as Gen. Fedor von Bock threw 25 divisions or upwards of 375,000 troops into a climactic assault on the key "city of Stalin."

"The Hitlerites' tank columns, decimated in previous engagements, have been considerably replenished," Tass said.

German planes were reported attacking the city regularly in waves of 150 or more.

In the Caucasus, Hitler's field headquarters said, German troops crossed the Kerch Strait between Crimea and the Caucasus mainland and now are attacking Russian defenses on the Black Sea coast.

Against the steadily darkening plight of Russia's armies, the situation in Egypt was markedly improved.

"Allied light bombers broke their previous day's record of sorties against enemy concentrations. No enemy dive-bombers operated over the battle area."

No Allied bombers were lost, the British command said.

The communique indicated that U. S. Army and RAF fliers, coupled with Allied ground forces, had won at least the first phase of the new five-day struggle by compelling Rommel to draw in his steel-tipped horns.

Dispatches from the front said the Axis chieftain had moved up vast supplies for his offensive—including a 10-day supply of gasoline for his armored columns—and that Allied planes now were keeping the supply dumps under an almost incessant hail of bombs.

British military observers warned against too much optimism as a result of Rommel's withdrawal, pointing out that the battle was still in its preliminary phases with both sides jockeying for position.

The spokesman quoted captured German fliers as saying many air fields in the west now had only dummy planes as whole squadrons were shifted to replace staggering losses in the east.

Masses of German infantry and tank reinforcements were also reported pouring into the assault on Stalingrad, and Soviet dispatches said the Germans had a superiority of two or three to one in some sectors.

Marshal Semeon Timoshenko's forces north of Stalingrad were said to have broken into Nazi positions and "wiped out two companies of Hitlerites in a fierce engagement."

SMALL ALLIED FORCE BOMBS GERMAN PLANTS

LONDON, Sept. 4.—(P)—A small force of RAF bombers attacked targets on the northwest coast of Germany during the night, the Air Ministry announced today.

Loss of two planes was acknowledged in the raid, which followed two successive strong attacks on industrial areas of western Germany, where Saarbrücken and Karlsruhe were the main objectives.

Spanish Cabinet Shake-up
Viewed as Important
Break for Allies

By DEWITT MACKENZIE

If one were asked to pick the most important international development of the past twenty-four hours I think it would have to be Spanish. Generalissimo Franco's removal of his brother-in-law, strongly pro-Nazi Roman Serrano Suner, not only from the office of foreign minister but from the presidency of the Falange, Spain's sole political party.

While this drastic and daring shake-up looks like an internal affair, its potentialities in relation to the Allies and the Axis powers are vast. There is much that needs clarification, but we can at least say that Franco's action must cause heartburnings in Berlin and is a matter of satisfaction to the United Nations. I think we may put it this way: By eliminating a powerful pro-Nazi influence from his cabinet and leadership of his party, Generalissimo Franco has whatever his underlying purpose—strengthened the neutrality of his country. From the Allied standpoint that is a gratifying sign of independence in the face of powerful Hitlerian efforts to make Spain draw water for the Axis.

Despite Suner's strong friendship for Nazism, the generalissimo himself has all along maintained his freedom of action, notwithstanding threats from the Axis powers. Franco's position has been extremely difficult and dangerous, especially with a German army sitting on his border in France. Still, he has dared greatly and has persisted in sticking to the middle course.

Now he has taken over the leadership of Falange, and has placed in the foreign ministry Count Francisco Gomez Jordana, who long has been credited with being well disposed toward the Allies. While diplomatic observers aren't inclined to jump to broad conclusions, it's a fair assumption that Allied interests may profit.

As the Allied powers look this situation over, it strikes me they must entertain that if this autumn's fighting should swing strongly in favor of the United Nations, Generalissimo Franco might lean in their direction. Should Hitler be held in Russia, and his henchman Rommel be defeated in Africa, the Allied camp would have a most attractive appearance.

What a godsend it would be for the Allies if Franco should join them and thereby make Spain the continental gateway for that second front! That, of course, is wishful thinking, but queer things have happened in this war and probably will again.

HEDGE - HOPPING BOMBERS BUSY OVER COUNTY

More Low Flying Frightens Farm Residents and Livestock

"Hedge - hopping" bombers have been causing alarm to many farm residents in eastern Fayette County during the past few days, and apparently these big army planes are practicing low-flying which will be put into practical use when the fliers have a chance to get a crack at the enemy.

Thursday two of these surface-skimming army planes, roaring like tornadoes, skimmed the earth in Marion township, and were flying only a few feet above the ground, so that when they approached a hedge fence it was necessary to rise before they could clear the hedge.

Fences, small trees and buildings also made elevation necessary and the big planes were flashing across the country at two or three miles per minute, according to reports.

Livestock has been frightened by the low flying, as well as many farm residents who, taken by surprise, believed the planes were about to crash.

Police Round Up Band Of Alleged Shoplifters

Police rounded up a band of alleged shoplifters in and near Washington C. H. late Thursday afternoon, and recovered a half dozen dresses they said were stolen from the Montgomery Ward Store.

The five persons taken into custody were all Cincinnati Negroes, and gave their names as: William Gaston, 44, 833 Barr St.; Arnetta Jane Bonner, 652 W. 6th Street; Mrs. Jeanette Smith, 19, Geneva McDowell, 22 and Lucy Woods, Cincinnati.

Arrests of the five were made by Policemen James Finney and Virgil Harris, after complaint had been made by the Ward store, and number of the automobile in which the five had been riding was given.

It was learned that the car turned south on the Greenfield road, and Gaston and the Bonner woman were overtaken and placed in custody six miles south of the city.

In their car was a suitcase containing six dresses which had been stolen from the Montgomery Ward store.

Searching further the police rounded up the three other members of the party, waiting on Clinton Avenue for the car to pick them up.

A shopping bag, believed to have contained other stolen articles, and which had been carried by one of the women, had been disposed of when the three were located. It is believed this had been secreted along Paint Creek.

All were locked up for investigation and disposition of their cases was to be made as soon as possible.

Cincinnati officers said all of those taken into custody here were known to the police there.

The sordid case involving Roy Dickerson, Millwood carpenter, in which he is accused of attempted rape upon a six year old girl, was up for hearing before Judge S. A. Murry in police court, Friday morning, and after the prosecution had offered three witnesses, the hearing was continued until Wednesday at 10 A. M.

In the meantime Dickerson is under $2,000 bond for his appearance in court.

The witnesses introduced by the prosecution, which was represented by Solicitor Norman L. McLean, included the little victim of the crime, her mother, Mrs. Virgil Harper and Dr. E. H. McDonald, the latter having examined the child following the complaint.

The evidence introduced was of a most damaging character. Dickerson, who was arrested last Monday night, was represented by W. S. Paxson.

NEW BAPTIST MINISTER NOW RESIDENT HERE

Will Deliver First Sermon on 'Church's Task' Sunday

Rev. and Mrs. Harold B. Twining and family have arrived in this city where Rev. Twining is pastor of the First Baptist Church, succeeding Rev. W. H. Wilson, whose resignation recently became effective.

Rev. Harold B. Twining

Rev. Twining will conduct the first services Sunday when he will speak at the morning services on the subject of "The Church's Task" and in the evening his subject will be "The Challenge of the Path Ahead."

Rev. and Mrs. Twining have purchased the property at 224 East Paint Street and are now making their home there.

Rev. Twining closed his work last Sunday at Bucyrus, Ohio, where he was serving in his fourth year as the pastor of the First Baptist Church.

The Bucyrus Church gave the pastor and family a farewell reception last Thursday evening at which time a lovely gift was presented to them. The Bucyrus Ministerial Association in which Rev. Twining was active, having served as secretary, vice-president and during the past year as president, gave them a farewell dinner last Friday evening.

Rev. Twining's ministry in Bucyrus was highly successful, the church realizing a 25 percent net gain in both membership and financial receipts during his pastorate there.

Rev. Twining received his theological training from Crozer Baptist Seminary of Chester, Pa. He has served churches in North East.

Deputy Sheriff Maynard Icenhower was called to the Waterloo community about 9 P. M. Thursday night, and arrested William Sampson, of that community, on a charge of driving while intoxicated.

Friday Sampson was arraigned in Justice George Worrell's court where he pleaded innocent and asked for a hearing which was fixed for Tuesday at 10 A. M. Bond of $100 was fixed, and Sampson returned to jail until he could furnish it.

Sampson's arrest took place after his car collided with one driven by Hubert Remy, of New Holland, R. 2, a short distance south of New Holland. Remy's auto was badly damaged but he escaped injury. Sampson sustained injuries about the face.

selective service director, said recently that able-bodied men in industries would be drafted, and that they must be replaced by women and older men.

"Increased participation of women in our all-out war production effort is essential to its success," McNutt said. "War production alone employed about 1,400,000 women last December. This figure will jump to 4,500,000 by December, 1942, and will climb to 6,000,000 by the end of 1943. By then, women will represent at least 30 percent of the labor force employed in war production."

"Over 18,000,000 women must be gainfully employed by the end of 1943, so 5,000,000 women must be added to the total number now employed."

"BLACK SELLING" ANTIDOTE
CHICAGO, Sept. 4.—(P)—Court action by the Office of Price Administration against alleged "up-grading" of beef and veal was viewed today by meat trade observers as a move to eliminate one of the many possible methods of "black-selling" of meat.

Although the OPA's action concerned only sales by packers to wholesale outlets, trade sources said the "up-grading" conceivably could be passed on by the wholesaler to the retailer.

AXIS HANDED REBUFF BY POLITICAL SHAKEUP IN SPANISH CABINET

war assistance in her reconstruction and traditional bonds linking Madrid with Latin American governments now largely arrayed against the Axis, were variously cited.

Await-and-see attitude, however, was adopted by prominent Spanish Republicans refuted in Mexico City.

Former Premier Indalecio Prieto said "it would not be going too far" to suspect the shake-up announced in Madrid yesterday was a maneuver to give Generalissimo Francisco Franco time to mould his future policy around the outcome of the new Axis offensive in Egypt.

Franco, a brother-in-law of Serrano Suner, himself took over as council chief of the Falange, the only authorized political movement within Spain.

The Foreign Ministry went to Count Francisco Gomez Jordana, veteran soldier-statesman, a Conservative Nationalist who also held the post when the United States recognized Franco's government April 1, 1939.

Alexander W. Wedell, former U. S. Ambassador to Spain, said at Richmond that the shift of foreign ministers "might be fairly translated as an indication that relations with the United States" would be examined with more moderation.

The London News Chronicle said it would "be rash to expect any drastic change of foreign policy," but described the dismissal of Serrano Suner as wellcome news.

"Prospects of an increase in Axis influence and even of the continuation of the use of Spanish ports by Axis submarines—an abuse of neutrality for which Serrano Suner has found endless excuses and denials—have slight-and ultimately to the consumer. In the last case, the housewife would be paying for choice meat and getting "good," "commercial" or "utility."

If there has been "up-grading" carried down to the consumer and the OPA obtained injunctions to stop it, there might result lower beef prices to consumers, trade experts said.

SABINA CHURCH HOMECOMING IS BEING PLANNED

Organized October 17, 1840
Anniversary Is Chosen
For Celebration

Members of the Church of Christ in Sabina today were laying plans for one of the biggest celebrations and most momentous occasions in years—a homecoming extra-ordinary on the Sunday of October 18.

The church was organized or "set to order," as the old records noted, on October 17, 1840—that was 102 years ago and the anniversary has been selected for the homecoming celebration.

On that same day the first house of worship was built by the parishioners of logs cut almost in the church yard. Then Sabina was hardly more than a crossroads trading point, where the hardy farm folk came at infrequent intervals to get their staple groceries and most of their clothes. Hard surfaced highways and sideroads were undreamed of in those days and to get to town meant plodding through mud or snow in the winter and in a cloud of dust under a burning sun in the summer. What takes only a few minutes now in speeding automobiles, took hours then.

But they came just the same—came for human sociability, to discuss the problems of the day and for the uplift of religion—and so a church was built and dedicated on that eventful October 17, 1840.

The old log church has since disappeared, but the heart of the church remains. Many changes have swept over the community and the church in those 102 years.

The minister, Rev. E. J. Meacham, said in making the announcement of the homecoming celebration that "cordial and urgent invitation is extended by the membership to all former members now living outside of Sabina to be present for the ceremonies and fellowship of this anniversary."

We Stand Squarely for the Best Interest of the Citizens of Washington C. H. and Fayette County.

TO SCHOOL CHILDREN

Only a matter of a few days now and the vacation of the public school youths of Washington C. H. and Fayette County will be history.

For most of them it has been a glorious summer even though many of them spent a part of the time in work. They are fitted for a real application to the months of study ahead. None of us know what conditions we may face within another year and every school child should be directed toward making the most of the school year opportunity now soon to be entered upon. It is to be hoped that another year will find war conditions improved, at least no worse, but every hour of serious thought given to self improvement now may bring even greater than ordinary advantages to meet new situations which could arise. Self reliance, the big factor in making every girl and boy a worthwhile citizen of tomorrow, is one of the vital things that education can do for all of them. To make the most of it now, even in grades below the high schools, may prove of exceptional value in near future years.

Now is the time for all children to check up and see if they are prepared for school opening. Any delay in getting a proper start not only works a hardship on the school child but also on other students and the teachers.

We extend to all the school youth our cordial wishes for a successful year and make an earnest plea for their continued cooperation, also of their parents, with teachers and school officials.

OUR RIGHTS

The things for which we fight are:
The right to work, usefully and creatively through the productive years.

The right to fair pay, adequate to command the necessities and amenities of life in exchange for work, ideas, thrift and other socially valuable service.

The right to adequate food, clothing, shelter and medical care.

The right to security, with freedom from fear of old age, want, dependency, sickness, unemployment and accident.

The right to live in a system of free enterprise, free from compulsory labor, irresponsible private power, arbitrary public authority and unrelegated monopolies.

The right to come and go, to speak or to be silent, free from the spyings of secret political police.

The right to equality before the law, with equal access to justice in fact.

The right to education, for work, for

Flashes of Life

CHATTANOOGA, Tenn.—Coincidentally speaking:

Walter S. Rhodes and Robert Eaves, both 43, volunteered together back in '17, trained together, went overseas together and fought side by side at St. Mihiel and the Argonne. After the war, they were mustered out together, receiving their honorable discharges on the same date, April 19, 1919.

This week, they met again on the same courthouse lawn from which they left a quarter of a century ago.

They glanced quickly at each other's baggage. "You too?"

"Yeah, and you?"

It was true—they had been drafted on the same day for another war, and they commented: "We hope we can stay together through this one."

SALISBURY, Md.—Police Sgt. Morris Brewington was sure he had caught the most and biggest fish to win bet from two fellow officers surf fishing with him.

He waded out with his basketful of fish to wash the sand off them—and a huge breaker caught him suddenly.

Brewington went head over heels, recovered to find only two small fish left in the basket. He threw them and the basket to the ocean, and disgustedly waded ashore to pay off.

Words of Wisdom

If a man can have only one kind of sense, let him have common sense.—If he has that and uncommon sense, too, he is not far from genius.—H. W. Beecher.

Hints on Etiquette

When you sail, soldiers or marines are home on leave, see all the pals you can, but don't neglect to spend a good share of your time with father, mother and the rest of the family.

Today's Horoscope

A warm disposition, versatility, strong emotions, and a tendency to jump from one project to another are characteristic of persons who have birthdays today. They should develop their will power. They love intensely, become very bitter when crossed, and should learn patience and tolerance or they will make themselves and others unhappy. They should be on their guard during the next year against deception and misrepresentation, especially in business, correspondence and travel. Success will then be theirs. The year will be one of contradictions. The child born on this date will be given to a love of sensationalism which should not be indulged in too freely. He or she will be liable to many ups and downs, although intellectual and clever.

One-Minute Test Answers

2. In southern Africa, 30 miles north of the Cape of Good Hope.
3. Yes, especially when made into an omelette with milk. One ostrich egg equals 25 hens' eggs.

Washington at a Glance

By Charles P. Stewart

I've been wondering if somebody wouldn't finally make a few remarks in opposition to the proposed Western Union and Postal Telegraph merger, as a wartime measure. The other day C.I.O. Chief Philip Murray got aroused to doing it, at a meeting of the American Communications association, which should not be confused with Federal Communications commission.

The FCC's for the merger. Ray C. Wakefield, one of its members, is on record to the effect not only that it would vastly improve wire service in the United States, but that it would be a "long stride" toward making this country the "communications center of the world."

Phil Murray denounced the scheme as "Wall Street inspired." Other ACA officials agreed with him. They were emphatic enough when they got around to expressing themselves, but they were a trifle belated in doing so; the plan's already pending in congress.

One needs to be about 100 years old to remember when the Western Union was an airtight monopoly in the United States. I'm not ancient enough myself to be personally familiar with the merits of the popular complaints made concerning it, but I can recall 'em.

Cussed Far and Wide
It undoubtedly was the most cussed-at institution in the whole history of our era of practically unregulated big utilities. In its particular line it was, of course, a vital necessity to the entire American public, and it was accus of taking every imaginable advantage of it—financially, as a convenience and in every other detail.

Big and little alike, its customers damned it without qualification. Yet they were as dependent on it as they were on the postoffice, with but none of the postoffice's limitations. Yet they couldn't do anything about it—not until the MacKay family broke into the situation with the organization of the Postal.

The Postal was just getting fairly ticking as I emerged upon the journalistic scene, with news telegrams to file from the South Dakota legislature to my home town daily, so that's how I know what wire communications were like in those days.

Telegraphic patronage simply fell on the Postal's neck and wept with joy and affection. It was out after business and consequently was especially accommodating. On the opposite hand, the Western Union, presumably scared by the new competition, turned a whole lot nicer, and Postal got the credit for it, even in places where Postal still was unavailable.

The distinction between 'em wore off gradually, although personally I've never quite survived the feeling that the Postal was a kind of a benefactor of the human race originally, and still is entitled to certain amount of consideration on account of it.

Is it explainable, then, why an old-timer isn't enthusiastic over the return to the by-gone one-company system.

If congress were to decree that telegraphy essentially is governmentally postal, as is done generally in Europe, that would be one thing. Merging Western and Postal into a single private corporation again, however, is something different.

As a war measure, perhaps it's logical.

How About After War?

But will it lapse when the war's over?

The same thing applies to a lot of these suggested industrial consolidations.

They'll make for emergency efficiency, probably.

But will we ever get over 'em? or recover from 'em, in subsequent peacetimes, or are they here to stay forever?—doctoring our whole socio-economic-governmental system into something new entirely?

These CON-centrated industries will be DIS-assembled later, it's supposed.

Will they be?

The whole question is—Won't we be totally transformed, as to later on?

And will we be able to retransform ourselves backward?

A lot of authorities say we worry too much about post-war conditions.

We'll be thinkin' about 'em later, though.

Still, there are guys who say they're premature at present.

Economists do the advance dopping. Militarists are the other birds—and THEY disagree, too, as between ordinary army folk, navalites and aviators.

And—diplomatic affairs! Gosh! They're diplomatically New Worldly important as of the moment.

Army Life Puts No Burden on the Heart

By LOGAN CLENDENING, M. D.

THE TERM "athlete's heart" (once heard almost as much as "athlete's foot" is today) went out of fashion, partly because of lack of rigid definition, and partly because careful examination by modern methods of such hearts showed in most cases that the actual trouble was old rheumatic heart disease, hardening of the arteries or some condition not connected with the exertion of athletic competition.

Dr. Clendening will answer questions of general interest only, and then only through his column.

Today with the tremendous extra strain put on the hearts of new recruits with the exercises, long marches and marching process for military maneuvers, the concept requires some further definition.

Causes of Strain

Acute heart strain undoubtedly occurs. The causes are (1) occupational, (2) infectious, (3) previously existing heart disease, (4) age—over 40 there is less elasticity in the heart muscle and large arteries, (5) nervous strain or excitement, and most important (6) excessive exertion in lifting, pulling, straining, marching, running, carrying heavy loads.

The symptoms are sudden onset with pain or discomfort over the heart, weakness, shortness of breath and palpitation, and limitation of response on the part of the heart to exercise tests, rapid pulse, often enlargement of the heart (dilatation) and pulse irregularity. The basic cause is probably overstretching of the heart muscle. Many doctors do not agree that there is any such thing, but at least all the signs disappear on rest and the quieting of apprehensions.

Does acute strain go over into chronic heart strain? That is what we want to know in connection with school athletics and military training. The heart of chronic strain may be defined, for purposes of argument, as an enlarged heart with a low reserve.

Result of Activity

There is no question that unusual activity causes enlargement of the heart. Soldier's hearts are larger than civilians. Heavy laborers have larger hearts. Wild animals have larger hearts than household pets—the wild rabbit has a heart almost three times as heavy as a pen rabbit of the same weight.

But does this do any permanent harm? Probably not. Nor cause any unpleasant symptoms. Farrel studied 23 runners three days after they had reached New York from Los Angeles. They had averaged 41 miles for 84 consecutive days, yet only one man's heart was larger than when they had started and he was 64 years old and had been running for 40 years.

The conclusion seems to be that there is no such thing as chronic heart strain and that under military supervision the soldier's life puts no burdens on the heart.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS
J. J.: Will a strict fruit diet for one or two weeks aid an adult suffering from chronic constipation?

Answer: Yes, but you don't need to go on a strict fruit diet, and two weeks is too short a period to set to cure chronic constipation. Give up cathartics and eat as usual, but eat only fruit, not sweets, for dessert and eat a good helping of vegetables at each meal and an apple at bedtime.

Mark's Wife

by MARIE BLIZARD
WRITTEN FOR AND RELEASED BY CENTRAL PRESS ASSOCIATION

CHAPTER TWENTY-FIVE

"GOOD AFTERNOON," Barbara said brightly to her near-like visitor.

"Good afternoon!" he boomed. "I'd call this the devil's own punishment of a day!"

Barbara looked down at the little pool of water forming on her rug. "You should have worn your rubbers," she scolded.

He looked at her with a puzzled expression for a moment and then began to laugh heartily. "Nobody's given me orders in 20 years," he told her.

"Then maybe someone should have. You'd better take off your coat and get your shoes dry before you go out again."

He thanked her and asked her if she had a good book to make him "forget that I've got to wait three hours to get an axle fixed," adding, "My chauffeur's found a pool room, too small for me to fit in."

"What kind of a book?"

"One with plenty of gory murders, one to a page."

She hastily selected three with flaming covers which he barely looked at as he reached into his pocket for a wallet.

"Now, young lady, I'll take these along if you'll recommend a place where I can get a decent lunch."

Barbara looked at the clock on her desk and said dubiously, "It's too late to get lunch at the tea-room, but the Inn might get you something."

He grunted a negative response, looking at the teeming rain sluicing down the windows. "It doesn't sound very appetizing. Mind if I stay here and occupy as little space as possible?" His laughter boomed out at his own joke.

It was nice, cheerful laughter, just what Barbara needed. She said, "Do stay! I'm hungry, too. I'll fix some tea for us."

It didn't take more than 10 or 15 minutes to brew a big pot of fragrant tea, to make a mound of golden buttered toast and fill the jam jar with scoops of piquant marmalade and to set the tray on her tea wagon.

It took less for the tea and toast and marmalade to disappear. With napkin tucked in his expensive and expansive waistcoat, Barbara's visitor sniffed the tea and tasted the toast and marmalade with the judicious deliberation of a gourmet. He promptly said yes he would like some more when she invited him.

"I like good food," he told her rather unnecessarily when the second plate of toast had disappeared.

"You look as if - cu do," she agreed, smiling.

"So do most people, my dear. I found that happy truth out when I was a lad, going to sleep at night with an empty stomach and a mind full of questions about how I was going to make my fortune."

Barbara thought that both his stomach and his ambitions had been filled, but she forebore interrupting him.

He'd taken a fat cigar from a thin case and was smoking it contentedly, enjoying himself. "That's how it began," he said. I worked as a bus-boy in a little German restaurant and I found out that people will travel and pay for good food. When I got enough money together I opened my own restaurant."

"Do you have one now?"

"Twelve of 'em. Ever hear of the chain of Champs Elysee Restaurants?"

"Oh, yes!" How well she remembered the luxurious restaurants where she and Mark had celebrated their first gifts of good fortune, and remembering, too, the articles she'd read about the millionaire owner, Paul Gustenhein, who was now licking the marmalade spoon slowly.

"What's in this?" he demanded. "Oranges and ginger and a special sauce. It's a secret recipe and made by an old lady, a friend of mine. You can't buy it anywhere."

"Can't? No such word as can't. I want four gross."

"Four gross?" she repeated, as if he'd been speaking a foreign language.

Four gross, he explained, were 48 dozen. He wanted 48 dozen, sent in cases of one dozen each.

She continued to look at him so blankly that he hastily said, "I'll pay you $5 a dozen. It's a good price, but worth it to me."

If he'd said he'd back a truck up to her shop and buy her out for a sum beyond her comprehension, she couldn't have had more trouble trying to figure what the profit would be. She gave up trying to think.

"Our chain is smartly merchandised," he told her. "We're putting on a campaign now to bring in a Sunday morning crowd. Give 'em good food. UNUSUAL food, something they can't get anywhere else. That's not easy to find, but we've got it here! We'll advertise it, and unusual ways to serve it, get our chefs to work and sell it in jars if they ask for it. It ought to be good for a month's feature. Can you ship me a gross, say . . . a week from Saturday?"

She found herself saying, "I think it can be done. Mr. Gustenhein."

Of course it could be done, and Barbara was to share 50-50 in the profits. Mrs. Alwyn insisted when Barbara went to tell her.

It was agreed that she was to use Barbara's kitchen and employ one of the healthy young Murphy girls to help her prepare the fruits and do the sealing. Bud Harding was called in to pack and ship the cases.

For days, the odor of oranges and ginger permeated Barbara's house and sometimes she felt that it was in her very bones, but when the check for $240 arrived, the expenses deducted and the $190 profit divided, she felt that it was well worth while.

She now had nearly a third of the sum of her immediate debts.

To Mrs. Alwyn, dependent on the generosity of a daughter-in-law, it was a fortune. To Barbara, it was something she took to the bank as proof of her accomplishment when she asked to borrow $200. The bank was unimpressed; her house already was too heavily mortgaged to interest them; and the contents of her shop, which belonged to her outright, were not of sufficient value to be used as collateral.

The bank was very, very sorry but, under the circumstances, it was not possible to arrange a loan for Mrs. Wister.

The time was to come when Barbara Wister—only she wasn't Barbara Wister then—occupied such a position in the business and social life of South Winifred, that the bank would almost have given her its own building had she asked for it.

But that time was not yet, and the evening that followed her visit to the bank, she could not summon a smile from out of her heavy heart, not even to welcome Tony Bradshaw when he parked his old car in front of her house and came up the walk, whistling.

Hollywood's 'Dark Jewels' in Background

By ROBBIN COONS

HOLLYWOOD — There's a select circle of off-stage celebrities out here, some of its members as well known in Hollywood as the stars they serve. They're the personal maids—the "dark jewels" of Hollywood.

If no man is a hero to his valet the same cannot be said for the glamour girls and their attendants. The stars are heroines to their maids. They have to be in no greater or less degree, because a good maid is regarded as a rare treasure and treasures can pick their own heroines. They're extremely particular about whom they serve.

One is Bette Davis's Edith Kemp—or "Kempy" as she's called. Besides helping her with wardrobe changes, straightening up her dressing room, serving lunch or tea, Kempy is Bette's buffer.

Job Demands Diplomacy
"Heroine?" Kempy laughs. "She's my baby. She's my little girl. I just like to take care of her. She had another maid when I first saw her working. I asked the girl if she'd mind if I got her another job so I could work for Miss Bette. She was agreeable, so I did, and I've been with Miss Bette ever since."

Kempy has worked for other stars, among them Grace Moore and Peggy Hopkins Joyce. A graduate of Ohio's Wilberforce college, and natively sharp besides, Kempy makes a career of polished diplomacy.

Make Stars Their Own
"You have to know when to step forward with Miss Bette," she says, "and when to keep out of the way. If it's time to keep out of the way—boy, you'd better keep!"

Stars' maids usually show a possessive attitude towards their mistresses, like Hazel Washington. When Hazel read reports of her Rosalind Russell's engagement to Fred Brisson, Hazel, asked, "Miss Russell, we're not going to get married, are we?"

Rosalind has backed Hazel in a leather-goods shop, and the Russell maid is now Blanche Williams—an old-timer who has served Hedy Lamarr, Greer Garson, Eleanor Powell, Jean Harlow, as well as many silent screen stars.

Claudette Colbert's Winifred isn't around the sound stages so much lately. For years she was on the Colbert sets at all times, treating the star like a cross between a baby and a goddess and guarding her fiercely against anything Winifred considered an intrusion on the Colbert privacy. Then Winifred was married, and retired from service. Two months later her husband died suddenly, and for a while Winifred was too ill to work. But she's back with Claudette now, and the relationship is the same—except that now its Claudette who protects Winifred from over exertion.

Albert E. Atkinson's Body Is Found in Gas-filled Garage

CLEVELAND, Sept. 4.—(AP)—A securities and exchange commission attaché today estimated liabilities exceeding a million dollars would result from investment operations of Albert E. Atkinson, 45, whose body was found yesterday in a carbon monoxide-filled garage at his Geauga County farm.

C. J. Odenweller, Jr., assistant regional administrator of the SEC, said the Cleveland amateur golfer and investment counselor had been under investigation the past year after an investigation indicated he had misrepresented his business to the SEC.

"He asserted he was acting only as an investment adviser," Odenweller continued, "whereas our investigations disclosed he was in fact acting as a broker and was taking into his own keeping the securities his clients deposited with him."

"In our opinion, he was operating a bucket shop."

FOUR ROADSIDE PARKS DRAWING MANY PATRONS

One on U. S. 22 at the Fair Grounds Leads Others In Community

Fayette County now has four roadside parks, and they are being liberally patronized, particularly the one along the Fair Grounds on Route 22 and a second at Compton Creek on U. S. 22, five miles east of Washington C. H., the two camps being the larger and most attractive of the four.

First of the camps to be established was on U. S. Route 35 near West Lancaster. The fourth camp is located at the intersection of the Greenfield and New Martinsburg roads at Wabash Creek seven miles south of Washington C. H.

The Fairgrounds park is by far the larger of the four, containing upward of two acres and by reason of its proximity to the city, is heavily patronized, and it is believed its popularity will steadily increase as local residents become aware of its picnic facilities.

In addition to the parking facilities of the park at the Fair Grounds, there are numerous tables with seats attached, two ovens, a large shelter house, several trees to provide shade, a well of pure water and toilet facilities.

The public is invited to use and enjoy the roadside parks, which were built and are maintained by the State Highway Department.

Labor Day Homecoming At New Martinsburg Is Prevented By War

There will be no homecoming at New Martinsburg this year. That's the word from those who have had an active part in the annual Labor Day celebration ever since it was started 11 years ago.

The moving spirits of the homecoming have had their heads together now and then, trying to reach a decision, for weeks. But, it was not until the last minute that they finally gave up hopes. The event probably will not be held until after the war is won, they said.

The war was the reason for the abandonment "for the duration." Tire and car rationing and the possibility of gasoline rationing in this section, it was felt, would prevent too many of the former residents coming back. Then, too, tire conservation entered the picture.

NAZIS WON'T HANDCUFF COMMANDO CAPTIVES

BERLIN (From German Broadcasts), Sept. 4—(AP)—The German high command cancelled today an order for the manacled of British prisoners taken at Dieppe after the British broadcast a denial that they had tied the hands of Germans captured during the attack on the French port.

The German order had been issued as a result of what was said to be a British order seized at Dieppe, directing that German prisoners be tied to prevent destruction of their papers.

YANKS OF TODAY NOW IN ENGLAND FIT AND EAGER

AEF Of 1942 Is Much Better Equipped Than That of First World War

By RUSSELL LANDSTROM (Wide World News Service) WITH THE UNITED STATES FORCES IN BRITAIN, Sept. 4—The soft-voiced American colonel of engineers looked over a good-sized chunk of United States equipment in Great Britain and remarked "we're so far ahead of what we were in 1917 there's no comparison," and that's what a lot of people in this country are thinking today.

From Whitey, a mongrel dog brought overseas in a barrack-bag to mascot for an infantry battalion to the most impressive gold-braid, the second AEF to Europe looks far better than the first.

It is generally agreed that the American soldier of 1942 is better educated, more physically fit and better trained than was the doughboy of 1917-18.

Moreover, he certainly is more personable.

Many a soldier from the states arrived here in the last war wearing an ill-fitting uniform—a uniform which never was any great shakes even when it was the right size—with bulky equipment clanking about him. Possibly he even wore one of those old-fashioned campaign hats, with the wide brim and the dents in the crown.

The American soldier in Britain now invariably is a well-appearing fellow. He received a good uniform before he left home, and he keeps it clean and pressed.

Those who have witnessed or participated in the arrival of two American expeditionary forces in Great Britain also have noted a contrast, often decidedly pronounced, in the reception of the troops.

When United States soldiers came over in the last war, they were roundly cheered by the English, who gave the newcomers many of the good things they had. It is rather the other way 'round this time. Rationing being what it is, the United States soldier is more likely to share with the British his own good things, instead of accepting the proffered largesse from the people of this country.

Several United States army officers said they believed the British were more hospitable to Americans than they were 25 years ago, and that American soldiers generally were getting along better with the British than did their predecessors.

A colonel cited "a good example." "I just got a letter from a prominent woman asking if she might entertain a group of American officers at dinner. They just didn't do that sort of thing here before."

Realistic and shrewdly observant non-commissioned officers commented, too. Said a sergeant of infantry with 24 years army experience:

"They can talk all they want to about the older soldiers—these kids are good. They're fit and they're eager. I think they've got an edge on us veterans—as we were 25 years ago."

Known from the home cantonments to the Western Front, in the last war, as a choleric, misanthropic "belly-robbler," and still something less than persona grata among enlisted men, the mess sergeant got his word in:

"Everything's better now. The food, clothes, equipment, all the living conditions."

"Sure there's grumbling, but that's the Army. The trouble is that the boys have been used to too much comfort; they can't get used to going without the things that are luxuries or that can't be got at all over here.

"Even if they could get those things, I suppose a lot of 'em would beef anyway. Give them good raisin pie, in the hope of lifting their spirits, and what happens? They yell 'where are the steaks?' At home they'd probably be satisfied with doughnuts and coffee for breakfast; now they want bacon and eggs and the whole damned works."

And now, let a soldier in the ranks speak:

"If we go on getting fed this well and if the people here don't get fed up with us, we'll have no gripe coming. As for extra chow, let them send over guns and ammunition, not food that we can get along without. After all, the British have been getting along on this food—and much worse."

"I like the British because they mind their own business. Why should anyone think we'd have to be coddled? Are we a bunch of campfire girls?"

FUEL OIL RATIONS IN EAST TO BE CUT

Heating Systems To Feel Pinch of War, Too

WASHINGTON, Sept. 4—(AP)—Fuel oil rationing and probably further curtailment of gasoline consumption today confronted eastern householders and motorists.

Confirming reports that the East would have less oil for heating homes, War Production Chief Donald M. Nelson asserted yesterday that a rationing program would be announced soon, perhaps later this week, and might affect some midwestern states.

At the same time, a committee formed by the Petroleum Industry War Council to study oil trends suggested that because eastern gasoline consumption in the last two months exceeded expectation the four-gallon-unit value of ration coupons might have to be reduced.

COVERED BRIDGE PROJECT ALIVE

Span from Deer Creek To Supplant Structure Near New Holland

The State Highway project of tearing away the 102-year-old double covered bridge over North Fork of Paint Creek just west of New Holland, on U. S. 22, is still alive and plans call for removing the old bridge and replacing it with the steel span which formerly carried the Columbus Highway traffic over Deer Creek a half mile east of Mt. Sterling.

Original plans called for replacing the old covered bridge during the early summer, but plans were altered when other work developed.

Work of removing the old bridge and rebuilding the other structure may be started in September or October and will not require a great deal of time if the old abutments are used, otherwise building concrete abutments will require several weeks work.

FAYETTE COUNTY FARM BUREAU'S MEMBERSHIP 431

State Now Has 25,412 in Organization Due To Recent Drive

As result of the membership campaign conducted by the Fayette County Farm Bureau, that organization, which is part of the Ohio Farm Bureau, now has a membership of 431—which is just five below the goal of 436 set when the campaign started.

It is the largest membership of the Fayette County Bureau in a period of 10 years.

During the recent statewide Farm Bureau membership drive the number enrolled exceeded the goal set for 1942, with a total enrollment of 25,412 farm families, according to figures released Monday by L. J. Bennett, director of organization and distribution of the Ohio Farm Bureau.

The goal fixed for 1942 was 25,000 families.

This represents an increase of 25% over the membership quota last year and is the highest increase in quota to be set and achieved by any midwestern Farm Bureau organization.

In achieving this state goal 77 of the 84 counties in Ohio with County Farm Bureau organizations have passed their 1941 total of paid enrollments.

Richland County leads the state with 890 members for 1942. Ten other counties have gone over the 500 mark. These are Butler, 649; Seneca, 623; Franklin, 590; Ashland, 575; Clinton, 572; Wood, 566; Tuscarawas, 565; Wayne, 563; Sandusky, 520, and Hardin with 510 members.

The Ohio Farm Bureau Federation ranks 8th in the number of total memberships among the 43 state Farm Bureau Federations which make up the American Farm Bureau Federation.

With 25,412 farm families holding membership in the state organization approximately 100,000 persons are participating in the services of the county farm bureau cooperatives which include farm and household supplies and insurance. Farmers purchase supplies and market cooperatively at the 125 county cooperative retail service points.

IDLE BLUES TAKE LEAD IN AA AS RED BIRDS AND BREWERS BEATEN

(By The Associated Press)

If any team in the American Association deserves a round of applause today it's St. Paul.

The last place Saints didn't give up last night in the face of an announcement that the club will let its franchise revert to the American Association and dispose of all its players. Instead, they whipped front-running Milwaukee 6 to 3 in a 13-inning contest.

The defeat sent the Brewers pancaking a full game off the American Association lead, and this, plus Columbus' defeat by Indianapolis, left the idle Kansas City Blues on top by half a game. The Blues' game with Minneapolis was postponed.

The Saints dropped the Brewers in the 13th frame last night when Jimmy Grant doubled with bases loaded. Verdie Himsel went all the way for St. Paul, giving up 17 blows, but only one for extra bases.

A three-run rally in the first inning resulting from three singles and a double from Pitcher Red Munger, gave Indianapolis a 4 to 2 win over Columbus. The tribe functioned behind John Hutchings' seven spaced hits as the newcomer from the majors registered his fourth victory without a loss.

Louisville trounced Toledo for the third straight time, 9 to 6, and just about knocked the club from the American Association playoffs. The Colonels boosted their fourth place margin to a game and a half and have only five more to go.

-Spying- On Sports

NEW YORK, Sept. 4—While the hollering is going on, what's the matter with Hank Borowy for the "rookie of the year" prize? We've had nominations for Vern Stephens of the Cards, Johnny Pesky of the Red Sox and Johnny Beazley of the Cards. But has any of them bettered Hank's four shutouts and that almost-no-hitter for the Yanks? . . . Guess folks around here got so used to Borowy when he used to win 'em all for Fordham that they forgot he's still a rookie in the big leagues. . . Wonder what the scorer would have called that one "hit" Wednesday if it had come in the ninth inning instead of the first?

Headline Headliner

When stories on the Newsom and Cullenbine deals came through the other day, the guy on the Detroit News desk penned this self-explanatory banner: "Bobo and Roy 'inherit the earth.'"

Signal Corps

The Dodgers have called upon so many relief pitchers lately that Chuck Dressen and Frenchy Bordagaray have cooked up special signals for them. . . When Chuck indicates a fat man, Hugh Casey comes in, a thin man means Max Macoon; for Ed Head, Dressen scratches his head; for Kirby Higbe he goes through the motions of eating a steak and for Whit Wyatt he pantomimes a man walking behind a plow.

LIONS AND ROTARIANS TO PLAY 'RUB' GAME AT WILSON FIELD TUESDAY

Next Tuesday night at Wilson Field the Lions will meet the Rotarians for the second time this year to decide which team will win the championship.

Two years ago the Rotarians won and this year the Lions won; so they will decide the winner in the play-off game at 8 P. M. Tuesday night.

The proceeds of this game will be turned over to the YM-YWCA and another large crowd is expected.

When these two teams played before this year, over 1,000 fans turned out to see the game, which combined some comedy with a lot of surprisingly good softball.

The lineups for the two teams will be announced next week.

Army All-Stars Weakened By Injuries to Five Aces

DENVER, Sept. 4—(P)—It's no military secret but it is definitely bad news for the western army's football All-Stars—"Jarring John" Kimbrough may not be able to start in Sunday's game with the Chicago Cardinals.

Whether he is able to play at all depends on how well a severe rib injury mends. Wiping him out of the lineup is like taking Whit Wyatt away from the Brooklyn Dodgers or Sammy Baugh from the Washington Redskins, who beat the army eleven at Los Angeles last Sunday.

What You Buy With WAR BONDS

"Kamerad" was the cry of surrender of the Boche troops during World War I at the sight of advancing Yankee soldiers with fixed bayonets. The bayonet is a vital weapon in hand-to-hand fighting and every American infantryman must have one. The bayonet costs $5 and the scabbard $1.30 each.

We need millions of these weapons for our rapidly growing army. You can help pay for them with your purchase of War Bonds and Stamps. A $5 War Stamp will buy one bayonet. So invest at least ten percent of your income in War Bonds every payday and become a member of the patriotic "Ten Percent Club."

PITCHERS' DUEL WITH VANDY IS WON BY NEWSOM

Dodgers Take 2-0 Victory By Virtue of Passes—Only Nine Hits In Game

By JUDSON BAILEY

(By The Associated Press)

When the Brooklyn Dodgers bought big Buck Newsom from the Washington Senators last Monday for a price now understood to have been $25,000, plus a minor league pitcher, they said they would be satisfied if the veteran won three games for them in the stretch drive for the National League pennant.

On that basis the showboat's debut for the Dodgers yesterday at Cincinnati was worth $8,333.33 and Newsom, with his rare ability for a grand gesture, provided a performance to meet the value.

He shut out the Cincinnati Reds 2-0 on four scattered hits and struck out eight in a tight hurling duel with Johnny Vander Meer, who himself fanned eight and allowed only four safeties before being removed for a pinchhitter in the last of the eighth inning.

However, Vandy had one wild streak and it cost him an unearned run and eventually defeat. In the third inning he walked the first two men up, Augie Galan and Arky Vaughn. Newsom grounded into an unusual double play, erasing Galan and himself and putting Vaughan on second. Eric Tipton dropped Pee-wee Reese's liner to centerfield and Vaughan scored.

Joe Beggs, who went to the mound in the ninth, walked the first man and Joe Medwick singled. Ray Starr hurried to the mound and fanned Dolph Camilli. Then Mickey Owen hit a long foul to rightfielder Max Marshall, Frenchy Bordagaray scoring after the catch.

The victory, closing Brooklyn's last western swing of the season, kept the Dodgers 4 1/2 games ahead of the St. Louis Cardinals, who crushed the New York Giants 7-0 behind the four-hit hurling of Lefty Howard Pollet.

Philadelphia's night game at Pittsburgh was postponed.

Joe Wells Sets Pace For Ohio Senior Golf

Markets And Finance

GRAIN MARKET NEWS SUMMARY

CHICAGO, Sept. 4.—(P)— Grain prices fluctuated within a narrow range today while most traders stood on the sidelines awaiting the president's Labor Day speech on his anti-inflation program. Wheat and corn were up about 1/2 cent at times but the gains were only temporary. Corn later showed corresponding losses reflecting additional purchases of grain to arrive here from country points. Traders said disposal of 1,000,000 bushels of government corn to an elevator concern at Buffalo and reports of competition of Canadian oats in the east may also have induced some selling. However, white corn, used mainly by food processors, sold at a new 5-year peak of 1.06 1/2.

Wheat closed 1/4 cent lower to 3/4 cent higher compared with yesterday. Sept. 1.20-1.20 1/2, Dec. 1.23 1/2-1 1/4; corn 1 1/4-1 1/2 down, Sept. 83 1/2, Dec. 85 1/2-94; oats 1 1/4-1 1/2 off; soybeans unchanged to 1/4 cent up; rye 1 1/4-1 1/2 lower.

DAY'S ACTIVITIES IN WALL STREET

NEW YORK, Sept. 4.—(P)— It was more or less of a dim-out in today's stock market although scattered issues were high-lighted by moderate strength and weakness.

Restraining the bullish urge was the lack of really good war news, the desire to await the president's talk on price-wage controls, continued tax confusion, more dividend casualties, and the inclination to keep commitments light because of the forthcoming lengthy Labor Day holiday. All major markets will recess Monday.

UNEMPLOYMENT BENEFITS SHOW INCREASE HERE

Total in the Wilmington District for Year To Date Is $38,767

Unemployment benefits in the Wilmington District of the Bureau of Unemployment, Compensation during the first six months this year, were 4.8 percent greater than in the same period of 1941, according to data issued by the state office.

The district is composed of Fayette, Clinton and Highland counties, and payments for the six months totaled $38,767.71 as compared with $36,986.29 in the same period of 1941.

Responsibility for the increase is largely due to the liberalized provisions of the Ohio law which were enacted last year, it is indicated.

Privileges unemployment in higher wage brackets was also seen as a factor in the increase. Just what part of the amount paid in the district was from Fayette County has not been revealed.

The report just released shows that 475 new claims were filed with the Wilmington office in the six-month period, as compared with 349 in the same period last year, an increase of 36.1 percent. However, compensation was paid for only 3,509 weeks of unemployment in 1942, as compared with 4,450 in 1941, a decrease of 21.1 percent.

Among larger cities of the state, Dayton, which now handles the claims for many Clinton County workers employed in war industries there, had the greatest increase in benefit payments, amounting to 176.8 percent.

LARGE NUMBER OF REGISTRANTS DEPART FRIDAY

Three Bus Loads Sent To Columbus for Tests and Induction

One of the largest contingents of Fayette County registrants sent to Columbus for physical examination and induction, departed in three buses late Friday forenoon, for Columbus, where the usual final physical tests will be given and those who pass the tests will be inducted into the military service, but will be permitted to return home for two weeks.

A large crowd of relatives and friends assembled to see the registrants depart, and as usual parking space for the buses was reserved in front of the Selective Service Board's offices in Court Street.

The special buses were very late in arriving, and necessitated a long wait on the part of the registrants and their friends.

Robert Spahr Sanderson, Jr., was placed in charge of the registrants, and Harold Wyatt Mark was named assistant in charge.

The big contingent of Friday followed a group containing about one-third as many as were sent Thursday.

The inductions are in keeping with the speeded up program announced a short time ago, and many others among the registrants will be sent later on.

NO RECORD HERALD ON NEXT MONDAY

Homecoming at Staunton Is Called Off Due to War

The war takes its toll of community activities along with the multitude of other sacrifices it inflicts on the people.

For the past four years, there has been a homecoming at Staunton on Labor Day. The first one started out ambitiously and as somewhat of an experiment. It was such a success that the residents and former residents of the community not only decided to make it an annual affair but, to insure its perpetuation, formed a formal organization with election of officers and appointment of committees. This year there will be no homecoming.

Mrs. Homer Wilson made the announcement after the officers had considered all of the handicaps which stood in the way. Rationing of tires and cars and the conservation of tires combined to make up the chief reason for the cancellation of the event. Then there were many who would not be able to take time off from work in war factories to attend and many others among the young men who are in the service would not be able to get back. Foster Winkle is president of the organization.

The homecoming celebration is developed around a basket dinner in the school yard. Each year, a program has been arranged that took up just about the whole of the middle part of the day. But, the main thing always has been the sociability and the renewing of old friendships. It also gave the people of the community the opportunity to discuss their problems, principally those connected with farming.

STRIPING STREETS IN SCHOOL ZONES

Zone Lines and Stop Signs Being Renewed

City Manager Edwin Ducey has had members of the street force striping and renewing other traffic markings in the various school zones of the city, as a safeguard to children.

By renewing the stop signs, school markers, and other traffic guides, motorists may readily see the warning signs and be guided according while passing through the school zones.

White paint is being used so it will be more conspicuous in guiding traffic.

NO CHARGES FILED IN STABBING CASE

Apparently the stabbing affair which occurred on Lewis Street around 1:30 Sunday morning, when Robert Seward, 55, Mechanicsburg Negro was badly stabbed by a woman, will pass without formal charges being filed, as Seward has not returned to file a charge.

The woman, whom Seward told police was Mrs. Ruth Collins, of Mechanicsburg, disappeared after the stabbing and was not located.

Hawaii officially came under the jurisdiction of the United States on Aug. 12, 1898.

PENSION FUND DRIVE STARTED BY METHODISTS

Grace Church Pastor Says Ministers' Salaries Often Far Short of Adequacy

Methodists of this area are planning to make an "all out" effort in the $1,000,000 pension fund campaign for the benefit of the retired Methodist ministers of the Ohio Annual Conference now in progress, Rev. George B. Parkin, pastor of Grace Church, said Friday.

Methodist church leaders pointed out that the Ohio Conference has never met its full responsibility to its retired men, the retired allowance many times falling far short of adequacy, Rev. Parkin explained. Of Methodist ministers who attain the age of 65 years, 85 percent face the pinch of acute poverty he added. Bishop H. Lester Smith, Cincinnati, resident clerical head of this area, said, "A well informed people will support the conference claimant's cause."

When the present number of retired ministers entered their calling, obviously there was little thought of the financial gain that might have been made in their work. Rev. Parkin declared adding that a random survey made of 43 of their number revealed that their average annual salary for the first year of their ministry was $459. One retired minister, he said, stated that the lowest annual stipend that he had ever received during his active years was $172 and he pointed out that his average salary during the 31 years of his ministry had been $685. The retired ministers on the conference claimant's rolls of the Ohio Conference represent over $,000 years of pastoral service.

Methodists here are studying the problem of the retired ministers and are laying plans to work for the complete success of the project. A quarter of a million Methodists and over 600 pastors of Ohio are part of this pension campaign which will intensify October 1 and terminate November 15.

FEDERAL TAXES ARE EXPLAINED

Tax Examiner Robert Gregg Discusses Puzzling Tax Questions

To clear up any questions asked by the vendors, Sales Tax Examiner Robert Gregg has issued a statement relating to the Federal manufacturers excise taxes. His statement follows:

"The Federal manufacturers excise taxes are levied by the Federal Government primarily against the manufacturer, and as such these taxes become part of the selling price of an article sold, and are therefore not deductible in computing the Ohio sales tax, even though invoiced separately from the selling price of an article or included in same.

"Examples of this are all auto tires and tubes and accessories, repair parts, adding machines, electric sweepers, or other article when the manufacturers excise tax is levied direct to the manufacturer by the federal government.

"In the case of the Federal retailers excise tax which applies on the sales of furs, jewelry and toilet preparations only, the Federal tax collected or charged on these three items is deducted in computing the Ohio Sales Tax."
